

Paul Kania is a Director - System Architecture in Device Technology at Verizon. Paul has been with Verizon for 12 years and has held roles across various Engineering disciplines across both Wireless and Wireline networks in the business.

Paul is a graduate of Rutgers University and loves coming back on -campus to spend time with students. In his spare time, Paul enjoys spending time with his wife and two dogs.